Chou Kuro
Fountain pen bottle ink

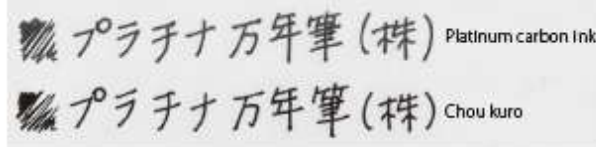

The “blackest black” ink in Platinum Pen’s history of over 100 years

With the growing interest in fountain pen inks in recent years, the variation of ink colors is also increasing. In response to the customers’ request for a blacker ink, Platinum Pen has developed a new ink that is the best black ink ever in its long history of 104 years since its founding. The new ink, whose blackness has been proven by numerical values, offers an excellent visibility with a clear and intense black color, allowing you to keep memories and records on paper.

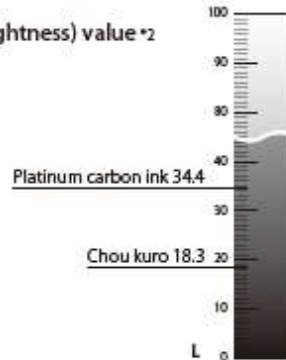

In addition, it prevents the ink bleeding through onto paper while also being highly water-resistant and fade-resistant after writing, making the ink ideal for writing letters, journals and anything else you want to last a lifetime. Enjoy the true black color like never before.

Feature

Writing comparison *1

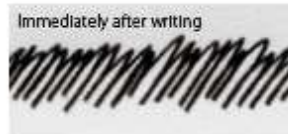

Average L (Lightness) value *2

*1: The color may differ depending on the display, printer or paper used.
*2: Lab color space is an organization of colors used for measuring object colors. It uses three values: L represents lightness and defines black at 0 and white at 100, while a and b values represent color components. When both ab values are 0, the color is achromatic.

Spread It allows writing sharp and pitch-black lines with little bleeding.

Water-resistant After writing and when the ink is dried, the paper is soaked in water for one minute. The comparison between the conditions immediately after the paper is soaked in water and after dried naturally shows that almost no bleeding can be observed.
